n Washington last July, Josephine che, former head of federal health ivities, told members of the Nanal Health Conference that the vernment proposed to embark on ten-year public health program, appropriate $850,000,000 annually the job.

Lay delegates heartily approved, t officials of the American Medi- Association bitterly objected to ntralization of control of medical vice by any state agency." Later dical leaders expressed a desire to enefit the people" and cooprate der certain conditions.

Proposals are: (1) The health of poverished persons should be pro-ted by use of federal and state nds when necessary; (2) A Depart-ent of Health should be established th a physician as Cabinet member;) Public health, maternal and ild welfare service should be exnded; (4) Better use should be ade of existing hospital facilities d new buildings should be conructed where necessary; (5) Comlsory health insurance is undeable, would lead to "political conol and manipulation," but hospital rvice insurance and cash indemty insurance policies for patients ffering from prolonged illnesses e highly desirable, as is compensaon of workers for loss of wages uring illness.

SCHEDULE STAR FOR AUTO SHOW NOV- 11 TO 19

Expect Vallee and Troupe To Draw Record Crowd For Annual Event

Rudy Vallee, world famous radio nd picture star, with his troupe of 0 musicians and entertainers will nake a personal appearance at the 'wenty-third Pacific Automobile Show in the San Francisco Civic Auditorium November 11 to 19 inlusive. This announcement was nade yesterday by Jack French, San Francisco Dodge and Plymouth disributor and chairman of the San Francisco Motor Car Dealers Show committee.

In a final meeting yesterday with Glen Stater, Hudson-Terraplane disributor and president of the San Francisco Dealer body, French accepted the costly terms for the 9-day engagement of one of the world's outstanding entertainers. The cost figure for the performance is said to exceed that paid other famous stars of the screen and stage who have formerly appeared on the stage at San Francisco's Annual Automobile Show. The dealers, according to French, are confident that this year's Show attraction will equal or exceed in pulling power those of former years.

TOUGH COMPETITION

When it is recalled that such outstanding favorites as Maurice Chevalier, Grace Moore and Paul Whiteman have in the past delighted San Francisco Automobile Show goers, the dealers admit that Vallee is going up against some tough competition but are confident that his unusual popularity together with the fact that he has never before appeared in person in San Francisco, will turn the trick of adding extra thousands to the gate at this year's Automobile exhibit.

"Nothing is too good for the San Francisco public and we are determined this year to offer an entertainment attraction in the Rudy Vallee troupe that will interest old and young alike and that will be on a par with the superior quality of the new 1939 models which are to be given their first showing at this exhibit," said Jack French recently.

Jesse Owens, Olympic crack star who has won the title of world's "fastest human," owes $746.50 in back income taxes and penalties on the approximately $20,000 he made in 1936, according to a Federal tax lien filed against him.

In selecting members for the board the nominating committee explained that it picked representation from every group, interest and section of Daly City—men who represent varied business concerns, labor unions, school, civic and social interests.

By motion the chamber set January 1 as the deadline for charter membership. A drive to boost the number of members from its present high of 110 to a peak of 150 will be held within the next few weeks.

COOPERATION

In order to definitely determine policy in regard to matters of public relations, the chamber unanimously passed a resolution declaring that its activities in such fields should be: "Solely and alone to investigate, promote and develop public interest in the various problems confronting the City of Daly City such as the problems of transportation, play-

S M PUBLISHERS PROBE COUNTY HISTORY BOOK

Edition Is Declared To Be Commercial Enterprise Only

DISTINGUISHED CAST OF FORTY IN "SOLILOQUY"

Curran Management Presents Premiere Of Victor's New Play

On next Monday night the Curran Theater will be the scene of the world premiere of Victor Victor's new play, "SOLILOQUY," featuring stage and screen star John Beal, supported by Helen Craig, Clarence Derwent, and a distinguished cast of 40, and produced by Homer Curran, John Cameron and N. H. Rappaport.

After a two-week limited engagement in San Francisco, with matinees on Wednseday and Friday, the play will be taken to Los Angeles for a two-week run, following which it will be road-showed back to Broadway for the fall and winter seasons.

FAMED DIRECTOR

Staged by famed European director Eugen Schulz-Breiden, who was brought from Zurich, Switzerland, "Soliloquy" will afford West Coast playgoers their first opportunity to see the modern stagecraft, "selected realism," the same method of staging as used in "Our Town," last year's Pulititzer prize winner, and also the Mercury Theater's Broadway success, "Julius Caesar."

"Soliloquy's" 28 scenes are rich with assorted humanity—laughter and pain! Simple, vivid and powerful, it tells the story of an ordinary young man, whose life is as humdrum and uninteresting as a plain sheet of yellow paper, yet who dreams magnificent, awe-inspiring ambitions! Through the medium of a highly original piece of stagecraft, the audience not only see his actions, but hear his innermost thoughts. A crosssection of his life, and only a few months at that, is placed under a microscope, so to speak, magnified a million times—so that all can see. It is a drama of human psychology—vigorously entertaining—modern as tomorrow's news.

Helen Craig, considered one of the most promising young actresses in America, and Mrs. Beal in private life, plays the love interest opposite her husband, who needs no introduction to playgoers and film fans alike. Among his screen performances those best remembered are in "The Little Minister," "Another Language," "Les Miserables," "Madam X," "Break of Hearts," and "I Am the Law." On Broadway, he starred in "Russet Mantle," "Another Language" and "She loves Me Not."

Ann Harding in "CANDIDA" closes her engagement at the Curran with matinee and evening performances tomorrow.

MAY WALK AGAIN

Cal. Enrollment Is Up Ten Per Cent

Instead of the 5 or 6 per cent increase in enrollment which was expected in the University of California this year, there has been an addition of 10.5 per cent to the student body on the campuses, both at Berkeley and at U. S. C. This announcement was made by President Robert G. Sproul, after receiving reports from Berkeley, Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Davis, where nearly the entire registration is found. At La Jolla, Mt. Hamilton and Riverside there are but a few graduate students.

The total enrollment at the end of last week was 25,639, as compared to 23,218 a year ago. These figures are not final, it is pointed out, as there is still time for late registration.

15,633 AT BERKELEY

On the Berkeley campus there were 15,633 students, of whom 12,821 were undergraduates, and 2812 were graduates, as compared to 14,273 a year ago. At Los Angeles the registration was 7815, with 7348 undergraduates and 467 graduate students; the enrollment a year ago was 6897.

In the professional schools and colleges in San Francsico, the total was 1077, as compared to 1042 last year at this time. This number is divided as follows: Medical School, 325 as against 303 in 1937; Hastings College of the Law, 248 this year and 215 a year ago; five-year curriculum for nurses, 166 as against 147 last fall; College of Dentistry, 179 this year compared to 152 a year ago; College of Pharmacy, 159 so far this year, against 206 last year. The decrease in the College of Pharmacy, it is said, is due to the change in the curriculum there, the courses and requirements having been materially stiffened.

YOUR GOAL AND OURS

Help Us In Our Drive To Make Daly City A Better Place To Live

What's your goal and ours?

Our forefathers summed it up when they said, "Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

We all want to live well, to provide properly and comfortably for our families and to foster the success of the community we have chosen as our home.

There is only one way in which to build a better community for ourselves, and that is to patronize local industries and encourage their growth, and to take an active interest in local civic and social affairs.

Let's repeat that again; for it's the one fundamental principal written in bold face on the horizon of any community's success—

"To Patronize Local Stores and Industries and Encourage Their Growth, and To Take an Active Interest in Local Civic and Social Affairs."

When we spend money with home town merchants and industries part of it comes back to us in the form of a dividend on home town prosperity.

No one can make you spend your money at home. But if thrift, economy and local interest are your guides, you'll find that 90% of the time the best value that your dollar buys is obtainable right here. Distant pastures only LOOK greenest. The merchant who is your neighbor must face you almost every day . . . he has to give you the best in merchandise and service for you are brothers in the common enterprise of bringing success to Daly City.

Let's all do our part to build a bigger and better city—to promote its economic, civic and social welfare and hence insure greater cultural and material advantage for all. We will then be well on our way to your goal and ours—

"Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Scotland Yard Lends Aid In Filming "Lord Jeff"

Case Histories of Juvenile Delinquencies Sent from England, Used in Drama Starring Freddie Bartholomew and Mickey Rooney

From across the Atlantic, Scotland Yard has stretched a helping hand to an American motion picture production in the interests of screen authenticity.

It occurred when a bulky envelope covered with British stamps arrived at the offices of Sam Wood, Hollywood screen director. It contained official reports of several cases handled by the British criminal investigation bureau.

The cases recorded on the forms were not used in pictures. The forms themselves and the manner in which the case information is reported were the important factors.

They were used to reproduce Scotland Yard reports for "Lord Jeff," dramatic story of training English boys for the sea at the Barnardo Homes in England, which opens Sunday at the Daly City Theatre. In the story Freddie Bartholomew gets in trouble with the police as an innocent pawn of crooks and finds his regeneration and future career through the famous British institution which yearly trains hundreds of boys to follow useful callings.

American printers printed the blanks in the exact form of the Scotland Yard paper and an English typewriter was used to fill out the reports to give the public its first glimpse of a real Scotland Yard case history. This is but one detail of the painstaking research that went into the picture.

Bartholomew and Mickey Rooney play the two principal parts in the story which deals with a boy passed off as a bogus nobleman by the crooks who adopted him as an orphan, his detection, and the work of the Homes in restoring him to useful citizenship.

Grace Nazarene Holds Revival

The revival campaign of the Grace Nazarene Church opened Wednesday evening with a good crowd in attendance, according to Rev. N. M. Lewis, local pastor. Rev. Laing, who has been secured as evangelist, was given an enthusiastic reception.

The month of October has been designated as rally month for the Sunday school classes of the Grace Nazarene churchh. The goal for this coming Sunday has been set at 200 in attendance. Leaders of the department extend a cordial invitation to all to attend.

Arturo Toscanini, famed orchestra conductor, speeding to New York to keep an engagement after having been delayed in Italy, was asked if reports that the Italian Government had refused to permit him to depart were true. He replied:

"The story is not true. The Government denied it."

Caution Motorists And Pedestrians

MOTORIST:- when the traffic light shows red stop your car in back of the crosswalk. If your car blocks the walk, pedestrians have to step out into the path of moving traffic to get around you. The National Safety Council cautions motorists, however, to be careful in backing up after having come to a stop in front of the crosswalk. Pedestrians may be walking in back of your car. The safest way is to slow down when approaching traffic lights, so that you will be able to stop comfortably.

PEDESTRIAN:- ARE YOU A SIGNAL SNEAK? Do you try to slip across the street when the light is red? The National Safety Council reports that 15,400 pedestrians were killed last year. Many of them were killed in just that way. They thought they could save a few seconds by ignoring the traffic light. Were those few seconds worth risking their lives for? Learn the habit of waiting at the curb until the light is green.—San Mateo County Traffic Safety Commission.

Catholic Church Vocation Week

Masses at Holy Angels Church next Sunday will be at 7, 8:30 and 11 a. m. At Rockaway Beach in Troglia Hall, Mass will be at 9 a. m.

The committees of the ladies and the gentlemen of Holy Angels Church are working hard for the coming entertainment and bazaar to be given at Colombo Hall on October 29 for the benefit of Holy Angels Church. There is still an old debt on the parish and this festival is given to liquidate it. A group of young ladies and young men of the parish are coached by Miss Mary Belli to stage a three act play for this occasion. Numerous and valuable gifts and donations were already secured for the success of this bazaar. The public is invited to attend.

Last Sunday at 4:30 p. m. a marriage was solemnized in Holy Angels Church, Colma. Wayne P. Sniffin of San Francisco was bridegroom and Inez Calcagno of Colma was the bride. Witnesses of the marriage were Grant C. Sniffin and Jennie Azzari both of San Francisco.

To Circulate Art Exhibits

The San Francisco Museum of Art announces that it will again circulate through towns in northern California a series of art exhibitions offering communities a twelve-week art season in which to see and enjoy the finest works of art.

"In harmony with the current trend toward decentralization," states the Museum bulletin, "this service adds to the especial advantages of the small community the cultural advantages afforded by art exhibitions which in the past, have been a monoply of the largest cities."

Six exhibitions make up the series, each consisting of 15 to 20 large color reproductions, with informative mounts and labels. A written lecture is sent with each exhibition to serve as a basis for a course of study.

The series may be engaged by any organization—clubs, civic groups, schools, libraries.

The extension exhibitions are available from November to May. Each exhibition may be held for a period of ten days, covering two week ends. Exhibition subjects include the following: The Language of Art, Picture-Making Processes, 20 Masterpieces of European and American Painting from the Past, Personalities of Modern Art, Painting of Our Time, Architecture and Decorative Arts.

Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Mildred Williams, educational secretary, San Francisco Museum of Art, San Francisco.

WISE MEN

Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem. Mt. 2:1.

There is a great divergence of opinion among men as to what constitutes a wise man. If we should ask this one or that one his idea of a wise man we would obtain a great variety of answers. The interpretation offered by most men would depend upon that individual's conception of the relative values of life's activities.

Some would declare that one who had saved money and grown rich was wise; others would say that he was wise who had let nothing interfere with his pleasures and the gratification of his desires.

But the wisdom of the world is not the wisdom of God. The wisdom of the world reaches only to the grave—it can never help human beings to see any brightness beyond the darkness of death. All its hope and expectations cease when the individual says farewell to earthly existence.

The wise man is he who seeks God, and seeks him continually from early life to the time when the shadow of old age makes dim earthly desires, yet serve to heighten the expectation of a happier dwelling place. Would you be numbered among the truly wise, seek God and those things that point one to that life where there is no disappointment and failure.

SKY CAMERAS MAKE PICTURE MAP OF COUNTRY

The United States is having its picture taken by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

When this picture is completed it will be no mere collection of typical "shots" taken at random over the nation but an actual photograph of a large part of the country's surface.

Since last July, eight aerial mapping companies, working under contract with the AAA, have been flying from one to five planes each over the 13 middle states. These planes carry photographers who, with high-speed, single-lens cameras, snap successive "shots" of the terrain below. The films are sent to laboratories established by the AAA at central points, and developed. Then the pictures are pieced together like jigsaw puzzles to form a photographic map of the area covered.

Similar projects are being carried on in other parts of the nation and, when they are completed, the AAA will have a photograph of the country's agricultural area.

Here is how the photographic maps are made: All pictures are taken at an altitude of 13,000 feet to keep the scale as uniform as possible. Each "shot" takes in an area of about six square miles, but the pictures overlap and, when pieced together, a single picture adds only about one and onefourth square miles to the map.

Keeping the pictures in proper order is a complicated task but this is accomplished by the use of symbols for the various counties and a serial numbering system. The central developing laboratory for the western division, in Salt Lake City, currently has more than 90,000 separate pictures on hand, and must keep track of them.

While the pictures are taken from as nearly a uniform altitude it is impossible to keep planes at exactly 13,000 feet above the land surface. For this reason it is necessary to measure some line on each picture to determine the scale accurately. This line enables the laboratory technicians to determine the precise degree of enlargement necessary to bring that particular picture into conformity with the adopted scale of one square inch for 10 acres.

United States will send ten of their 26 powerful aerial searchlights to Hawaii at the conclusion of the U. S. Army's most extensive war games.

Army Engineers Set SSF Harbor Hearing

Army engineers of the War Department office at San Francisco last week set November 2 as the date for the public hearing on the proposed development of the South San Francisco harbor. The hearing will be held at the Custom House, San Francisco at 1:30 p. m.

"All interested parties are invited to be represented, particularly navigation interests and officials of any city, town, or local association whose interest may be affected," said Lieutenant-Colonel J. A. Dorst, district engineer.

ASK PLAN

Proponents of the South San Francisco harbor project are asked to submit a definite description of the plan and improvements contemplated, an estimate of the existing and potential waterborne commerce of the South San Francisco industrial area, a detailed statement of the benefits expected, a description of the facilities to be constructed by local interests, the co-operation in cash, easements, etc., to be expected from local interests, and other pertinent information.

Application for federal aid in constructing the South San Francisco harbor was made by the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce. The House Committee on Rivers and Harbors on June 8 directed the army engineers to review the project to determine if the improvement is advisable at this time.

Jefferson Eleven Meets Berkeley

Jefferson redskins traveled to Berkeley Friday of last week and played a good game against the Berkeley high school's eleven.

Berkeley kickew off to Jefferson and the game started with no great gains on either side. Jefferson's main battery stayed in the game until the third quarter when the coach put in the secondary defense. Jack Parker dodged his way for some good gains when he ran back a couple of punts and in the third quarter Harasin intercepted a pass and ran 57 yards to a touchdown with George Winans leading interference. At the end of the third quarter Berkeley had completed only two passes, the rest were intercepted. The game went into the fourth quarter and up to the last two minutes of play the Yellow Jackets were on Jefferson's 25 yard line, 4th down and 5 yards to go for a first down. A break came when Jefferson was penalized 15 yards and Berkeley went through tackle for a touchdown, making the conversion and beating Jefferson's score by one point.

The first string played a good game, Mazoue intercepted a couple of passes and others made good clean tackles; the second string made the touchdown and they held the Yellow Jackets from gains of any kind.

NOT NICE!

Yes, definitely NOT NICE!

Reports have come to the police department recently that shrubbery and other landscaping effects have been stolen from local front yards.

Such stealing is not funny—if it is intended to be a joke—and it will not be profitable. Daly City police, who have in the past been complimented for their ability to track down law breakers and apprehend persons who commit nuiances, have laid down a fine net for shrubbery thieves. If such activity continues, culprits will be "given the limit" say local authorities.

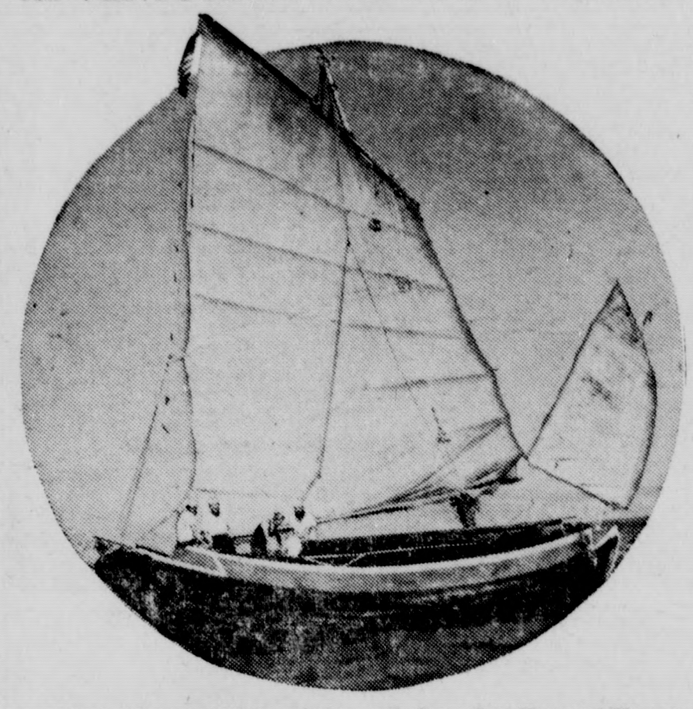
ADVENTURERS CROSS PACIFIC



Constantly periled by whales and fog, the Hummel-Hummel, Chinese junk, manned by Dr. E. Allan Petersen of Los Angeles, his Japanese wife, and a crew of two Russians, recently sailed into Los Angeles harbor, ending a three months' cruise from Japan to California. After leaving Yokohama the 37-foot vessel ran into a month of gloomy weather, according to Petersen. He said that soon after they were in the open sea, whales, some of them 70 or 80 feet long, would cavort around the frail ship. One day, Petersen continued, six of them surrounded the boat and began diving under the craft, almost causing it to overturn. Photo shows the fragile junk.

S F HOLDS HUGE OPEN HOUSE ON NEXT FEBRUARY

Millions To Climb Circular Staircase, See Whale Fountain

At ten o'clock on the morning of February 18, 1939, San Francisco is giving a reception—and what a reception!

It's to be held on Treasure Island, and there will be guests—millions of them—from every point in the compass. They'll be welcomed in a spacious elliptical court as high as a five-story building, with vari-colored lights playing over a gracefully curving fountain.

The ceiling will be of shimmering glass, in pastel shades; the floor of polished black terrazo (marble chips laid in cement). Slim silvery metal columns will support the balcony and the vaulted roof.

Strolling over the gleaming terrazo floor, among exotic palms and flowers banked against the distinguished murals of Ernest Born and Jane Berlandina, past an elaborate fountain supported by sporting whales of black granite, the guests will mount the grand circular staircase, enclosed on the outer side in sparkling glass and overlooking a Chinese court.

The second floor will be given over to the Mayor's suite, the hosts' and hostesses' rooms, two reception rooms, and a spacious lounge room. Superbly decorated, these rooms will furnish all needed facilities for banquets, parties and such gracious entertaining.

The outer wall of the longer reception room will be curved, and the doors will give entrance to a wide balcony overlooking the lovely Mission Trails Garden. Skillful arrangement of huge mirrors will convey the illusion of great distance. A pair of Peter Ilyin murals will add charm.

The Lounge Room also boasts a balcony, this one overlooking the California Court, and decorated with Moira Wallace's murals.

For nearly a year, San Francisco will hold open house, in a house as sophisticated as Nob Hill, as redolent of early California as the Spanish missions, but as modern as today and as cosmopolitan as Market street.

In Argentine prisons the convict is paid for his work and taught a useful trade.

Typical State Buildings At New York Fair

At the top is a model of the New England Building for the New York World's Fair which opens on April 30, 1939. The scene is a typical New England waterfront with a 135-foot sailing vessel lying at dock. On one side is a merchant's warehouse; on the other, a two story structure indicating the Bulfinch contributions to New England architecture.

In the middle is the Florida exhibit which will occupy 2½ acres of ground and will depict the citrus industry, phosphate mines, animal life and other resources and advantages of the state.

At the bottom is the building of the state of Missouri in which will be shown the industrial, agricultural and recreational life of the state.

Supervisors Sell $500,000 Warrants

The board of supervisors this week authorized sale of $500,000 worth of tax anticipation warrants to Kaiser & Co. to finance the county government until December 31.

Kaiser & Co. offered a premium of $25.83, and offered to pay for its own legal opinion on the validity of the issue.

New Figure Appearing on Phone Books

The drawing "The Spirit of Communication," which is being adopted as a standard design on the covers of many Bell System telephone directories. It pictures the 22-foot symbolic bronze figure, "The Genius of Electricity," which surmounts the headquarters building of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in New York.

Wherever he may travel throughout this country, the American telephone user recognizes the "Blue Bell" as the symbol of a familiar and convenient telephone service. Now one more symbol is being adopted which will gradually become almost as familiar on the covers of Bell System telephone directories.

This is the drawing known as "The Spirit of Communication," adapted from the statue called "The Genius of Electricity."

Since 1916 the symbolic figure "The Genius of Electricity," in gilded bronze, has crowned the tower of the Headquarters building of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in New York City. The statue was the successful design in a competition participated in by eight leading sculptors.

The heroic winged figure stands poised on a globe, his left arm pointed toward the sky from which he has snatched the thunderbolts grasped tightly in his hand. His right arm supports coils of a telephone cable, one end of which he holds, while longer loops sweep gracefully around his body.

Located 434 feet above the street level, the statue is about 22 feet high from the tip of the thunderbolts to the bottom of the globe, which is supported by a delicately molded pedestal of Greek design conforming to the architecture of the building. The statue with this pedestal weighs 16 tons.

This weight, and the great area of the wings, which extend about nine feet from the body, imposed definite engineering problems both in hoisting the statue into place and in maintaining it in position against the high winds which sometimes prevail in New York.

During a storm, it is interesting to note, the thunderbolts faithfully perform the role they represent, for they serve as a lightning rod.

BUSINESS GOOD SAYS SOLDAVINI

Belli Motor Co. Reports Sale Of 84 Cars This Year

Good news. M. J. Soldavini of the Belli Motor Company, Buick and Chevrolet dealer, Colma and Daly City, declares emphatically, "Business is good with me!"

Mr. Soldavini told The Record this week, "Many people look at me and shake their heads when I say business is good with me, but BUSINESS IS GOOD, and I've got facts to prove it.

"First of all, we've sold 84 passenger cars and trucks already this year. That, interpreted in our figures means that we got an increased percentage of sales in the low-priced field.

"Secondly, we're doing an excellent service business and selling our used cars quickly. Our customers are purchasing accessories to dress up their cars. Sure, business is good. It's true that not as many automobiles are being sold this year as were sold last year. Everyone knows that, but our sales records are holding up in fine shape and we're making many good friends—so why kick?"

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rosenberg of Brunswick street are firm believers in the progress and growth of Daly City. They purchased four new homes in the community as an investment.

Trailer Travel With Reservations

Trailer tourists to Canada's National Parks will do well to check their vehicles carefully before venturing forth this summer.

Regulations recently issued, and reported in a bulletin of the Department of Mines and Resources, set up stringent requirements for the tourist. His trailer, if it exceeds a ton and a half, must be equipped with an approved brake system independent of the automobile. Each trailer must also be equipped with an approved coupling system, safety chains, tail light and side mirror.

Regulations reach into the inside of the trailer too. Washbasins, sinks, or other similar appliances must be provided with removable metal containers for the retention of liquid waste, garbage and refuse. The disposal of waste must be made at designated places, and trailers must be parked only in approved sites.

Following these rules, and subject to all the provisions of the Motor Vehicles Act and Public Health Act of the Province in which the motorist camps, he may enjoy this means of travel which has rapidly grown in popularity.

An innovation which contributes to the striking appearance of the cars and which also has important engineering advantages is the adoption of "cat-walk cooling" employed exclusively on European racing cars. With this construction the grilles are set low, in rakish contour, in the catwalk section between hood and fender. This not only results in better streamlining while emphasizing the low lines of the car, but also provides a narrower hood with consequent improved vision and better cooling, because air is admitted under greater pressure.

All models now have Buick's Handi-Shift remote gear control with the shifter lever under the steering wheel, thus clearing the front compartment. Many other improvements for the driver's convenience and safety will be found in the controls and throughout the car, including a new warning flash direction signal, safety ignition switch, fatigue-free accelerator, legible instruments, better vision and accessory refinements even to a cigar lighter that pops out of contact when hot, eliminating one-hand driving as ordinarily.
